Soviet To Test New Rocket Over Pacific

Ships, Planes Asked To Keep Clear Of Area

MOSCOW (AP) — The Russians said Thursday they will test a powerful new rocket, built to reach other planets, over the central Pacific within a few weeks. They asked that ships and planes keep out of the area where it will fall.

The rocket is expected to land in a target area roughly 1,000 miles east of the Marshall Islands, U. S. nuclear testing grounds.

The Russians did not say how many rockets would be fired, but indicated there will be more than one.

The rockets will be launched without their final stage, the stage that would become either a satellite or a spaceship reaching another planet.

Perfection Tests

Tass, official news agency, in an authorized statement said the tests were for the purpose of developing "a more powerful rocket to launch heavy earth satellites and undertake space flights to planets of the solar system."

"With a view to perfecting this rocket with a high accuracy of flight, its launchings without the last stage will be made within the coming months of 1960 into the central part of the Pacific Ocean, removed from places of intensive shipping, airlines and fisheries," the statement said.

Soviet Ships To Be Used

The announcements said ships of the Soviet fleet will be sent to the target area to carry out necessary measurements, and the first launchings would be between Jan. 15 and Feb. 15.

It added: "To ensure the safety of navigation and air traffic during the launching of rockets into the central Pacific, Tass is authorized to announce that the government of the Soviet Union asks the governments of the nations whose ships or aircraft may find themselves during this period in the vicinity of the area where the rockets might fall to see that the authorities concerned instruct the ship masters and aircraft captains to refrain from entering the aquatorium area and airspace of the Pacific designated."

Hayden Gets Off With Rebuke

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Sterling Hayden got off with a mild reprimand Thursday for sailing his four children to Tahiti in defiance of a court order.

Superior Court Judge Emil Gumpert suspended a five-day jail sentence and $500 fine on condition that Hayden not take his children out of California without written consent of his ex-wife, Betty.

The judge said Hayden's voyage to the South Seas last year with the children was "regrettable and foolish . . . but the court accepts his apology."

The judge, who had declared Mrs. Hayden an unfit mother after viewing certain exhibits behind closed doors, commented:

"For years he (Hayden) had labored to shield and protect them (the children), and to afford them a normal childhood. Indeed, this court felt impelled to express the wish that all children might be blessed with a love and a devotion, a concern and a care, equal to that which this father bestowed."

Hayden had pleaded guilty to contempt of court.

FLOE BREAKUP—Cross on map locates the approximate position of a small, drifting ice floe about 400 miles above Point Barrow, Alaska, which has started to break up. Evacuation of 29 civilian and military scientists based on the floe has been ordered. (AP Photofax)

Airlift Of 29 Begins As Ice Floe Crumbles

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — The Air Force launched a dramatic airlift in the Arctic Ocean Thursday, removing four of 29 scientists from a crumbling ice floe used as a research camp.

Ladd Air Force Base here said the men remaining on the floe were in no danger. A spokesman said they would be taken off in a series of flights over the next five to seven days.

Removal of the 13 military and 16 civilian scientists was ordered after the arctic pack ice suddenly began to shift and break. A twin-engine C123 cargo plane was sent to take off the first group from the camp, known as Station Charlie.

Overnight, the 2 by 4-mile floe, about 400 miles northwest of Barrow, Alaska, and some 600 miles from the North Pole, sheared to one-fourth its original size.

However, there was still 3,700 feet of runway on the landing strip bulldozed out last year and buildings at the camp remained firm, snug and warm.

Landings at the station during the winter when there is no light have become routine with the use of flares.

Maj. Phillip Peacock, public information officer for the 11th Air Division at Ladd, said evacuation of the camp would take about a week unless an unforeseen emergency arises. The men will be brought here or to Anchorage.

Two four-engine C130 transports were en route from Stewart Air Force Base, Tenn., to assist.

The camp was established last May to continue research work begun in the arctic during the International Geophysical Year.

Dr. Phil Church, head of the meteorology department at the University of Washington, said in Seattle the scientific team had been engaged in studies of oceanography, meteorology, seismology, study of the ocean bottom and depths, and of the earth's magnetic currents.

Clamor Mounts For W. German Nazism Purge

BONN, Germany (AP)—Jewish leaders joined forces Thursday with a Church of England group and the mayor of West Berlin in demanding that all persons tainted with nazism be thrown out of high places in West Germany.

The swastika swabbing that began at a Cologne synagogue on Christmas eve continued unabated over much of the world.

More and more voices were being heard in West Germany for an end to the ugly incidents which have given the government of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer a black eye.

The Bild Zeitung, a Hamburg tabloid whose three million circulation is the biggest in West Germany, published a front-page article bordered in black and red about an elderly Jew who had come into the office and said: "I'm afraid again."

The World Jewish Congress submitted to the Foreign Office here a 12-point memorandum containing these principal demands:

1. The government should investigate itself, the civil service, the judiciary, the teaching profession and the press and get rid of anyone tainted with nazism.

2. New legislation should be drafted so that organizations even suspected of nazism could be banned.

3. A special police force should be set up to investigate anti-Semitic acts.

4. The nation's system of education should be overhauled and courses introduced pointing up the evils of the Nazi system and encouraging respect for human rights.

The Church of England newspaper, which is unofficial but represents the views of many Anglican clergymen, wrote that no efforts by Bonn to stamp out anti-Semitism would reassure the world unless the government "is prepared to dismiss from its own ranks those who are known to have been active supporters of the Hitler regime."

Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin, a Socialist, told the City Parliament there are many former followers of Hitler "in high levels of the administration, justice, education and among the so-called voices of public opinion" in West Germany.

Girl, 13, Runs Up $1,642 Phone Bill

FRESNO, Calif. (UPI)—Teenagers are renowned for their long telephone conversations, but 13-year-old Helen Jackson must be some kind of a champion.

The Pacific Telephone Company is suing Mrs. Mrs. Myrtle Jackson for $1,642 in toll charges which Helen was responsible for during the 1958 Christmas vacation.

The company's records show that Helen made 462 long distance calls to Los Angeles. She made as many as 20 calls a day—some costing as much as $35 — and called one family 123 times.

The calls were placed to eight families, most of whom have children near Helen's age. She gave the numbers of other Fresno subscribers, but the company traced the calls to the Jackson home.

Clerk Charged With $500,000 Stamp Theft

NEW YORK (AP)—A $62-a-week mail clerk for a Wall Street brokerage firm was accused Thursday of stealing half a million dollars in stamps. Officials said he had lived like a wealthy broker for the past 10 years off his loot.

Charles A. Willis, 56, held on a grand larceny charge, could not account for most of the money, authorities said, although he admitted losing about $250 a month on horses.

Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan said Willis, married but childless and a man who enjoyed the comforts of his Staten Island home, had boosted his income by about $4,000 a month by cheating on his firm's postage meter bills.

Hogan said the mail clerk's scheme worked this way:

Willis would draw a $1,000 check before taking the firm's postage meter to the post office.

At the post office Willis would have the machine set for only $500, taking the balance in regular stamps. These he sold at a 10 per cent discount to persons in the financial district.

Willis' scheme was discovered when a $16,000 bill for December postage was questioned. A survey showed the firm actually spent about $12,000 monthly on postage.

McDonald Denies He Committed To Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Steelworkers President David J. McDonald denied Thursday a published report that he is committed to back Vice President Richard M. Nixon's presidential campaign.

"I have not committed myself to support Mr. Nixon or anybody else for the presidency," McDonald said, "despite some reports that have been generated as a result of the steel settlement."

A columnist (Drew Pearson) reported Thursday that McDonald told friends after a visit to the Nixon home that he would support the vice president's campaign.

'Wrangling' Remark By Ike Irks Demos

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic congressional leaders bristled Thursday at President Eisenhower's appeal to quit "wrangling" with his administration. They told him cooperation is a "two-way street" and said he hasn't always heeded his own advice.

The President touched off the first squabble of the election-year session when he told the House and Senate in his State-of-the-Union message:

"Every minute spent in irrelevant interbranch wrangling is precious time taken from the intelligent initiation and adoption of coherent policies for our national survival and progress."

While Republicans were almost unanimous in praising the address, Democrats took sharp exception to the anti-wrangling remarks. Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) summed up their attitude by declaring:

"I want to say right now that I agree that interbranch wrangling takes time from cooperation to promote the peace and prosperity of the nation. I hope that the administration will take a further step and remember the past and recognize that cooperation is a two-way street."

Actually, the President omitted the "wrangling" remark in delivering his speech. But it appeared in the official White House text which Johnson and other lawmakers followed as they listened to the address. The White House said the statement was omitted, along with other passages, to save time.

Democrats also challenged the President on such hot election-year topics as farm, civil rights, federal aid to education, financing and the state of the missile-space program. They indicated he faces another fight on his bid to raise interest rates on long-term government bonds.

All four of the Senate's potential Democratic presidential nominees took issue with Eisenhower on one subject or another. This included Johnson and Sen. Stuart Symington (Mo.) who have not yet tossed their hats into the ring, and Sens. John F. Kennedy (Mass.) and Hubert H. Humphrey (Minn.) who have.

It was Humphrey who struck back sharpest at the President's remarks on wrangling. He bitterly criticized the President's use of the veto last year and declared his statement was "an unwarranted attack on a responsible and sincere Congress which has gone more than halfway toward meeting the President in the past."

Kennedy, front-runner in the Democratic presidential sweepstakes, told newsmen the message failed to take into account "the very serious possibility that we are going to be in a secondary position in the field of long range missiles in relation to the Soviet Union" unless the program is stepped up.

Symington, a frequent critic of administration defense policies, said he was "disturbed" by some of the President's defense references.

Federal Registrar Bill Introduced

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill introduced in the House Thursday would provide for a federal official to register voters if as many as nine applicants in any district were denied registration by state officials because of race, religion, color or national origin.

The legislation was introduced by Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.), chairman of the House Judiciary Committee and author of a pending civil rights bill.

Southerners call the federal registrar plan unconstitutional; they say the Constitution gave the states sole power to determine their voter qualifications.

Grieving Kin Identify Bodies Of Plane Dead

SOUTHPORT, N.C. (AP) — By ones and twos, stricken relatives of the 34 people who died in an airline crash rode into this old port town Thursday for the awful ceremony of viewing their dead.

Some wept. Some were stone-faced. Others could not bear to enter the door of the little high school gymnasium where their loved ones lay on a polished floor, swathed in blankets.

Thirty-two bodies had been recovered in the search of wreckage of the National Airlines DC-8B, spread over a 20-acre area outside Bolivia, a tiny town 17 miles west of here.

Searchers moved the biggest of the fuselage in hopes the two missing bodies might be buried beneath. They were not there. The search was broadened.

The big plane, on a nonstop run from New York to Miami, apparently came apart in the air over this coastal area early Wednesday. Residents who heard the crash said they detected noises first like the ripping of metal. Bodies and pieces of the plane dropped onto the plowed fields and marshy piney woods.

There were no survivors. The plane that crashed was one of two substitute flights, made necessary because the jet on which the passengers had been booked had a broken windshield.

The other substitute flight reached Miami without incident.

The ill-fated plane made its last report in flight south of Wilmington at 2:31 a.m. Reports by witnesses and a stopped watch on one of the victims put the time of the crash at 2:45.

Joseph Cotten's Wife Dies Of Leukemia

ROME (UPI)—Lenore Cotten, 55, wife of actor Joseph Cotten, died of leukemia in a Rome clinic Thursday.

The couple, known in Rome and Hollywood as a devoted husband and wife, had been married 28 years. Their only child, Judith, is married to an American television director.

Rep. Simpson Dies; GOP Leaders Express Regret

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Richard M. Simpson of Pennsylvania, a hard-battler for old-time Republicanism, died Thursday at the age of 59.

His death, which followed brain surgery Dec. 14, brought expressions of deep regret from party leaders.

President Eisenhower in a formal statement called Simpson "a veteran and distinguished legislator who for many years has courageously and conscientiously served his district, the nation and the Republican Party."

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, whom Simpson supported vigorously against attempts of Harold E. Stassen to dump him from the national ticket in 1956, said Simpson was a man who "earned the deep respect of all those who worked with him."

Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky, the Republican national chairman, spoke of Simpson as "a dedicated American patriot as well as a truly great Republican."

Simpson, who first was elected to Congress 23 years ago, was chairman of the Republican Congressional Committee, which worked toward the election of Republicans to the House.

One of Simpson's latest legislative proposals was to reduce income taxes for everyone. He was a steady fighter against the lowering of tariffs under the reciprocal trade program.

Funeral services will be held here at 2 p.m. Saturday at the Chevy Chase Presbyterian Church and at 11 a.m. Monday at the Huntingdon, Pa., Presbyterian Church.

Prosperity, Peace Theme Of Message

Recommends Any Left-Over Funds Be Applied To Debt

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower Thursday forecast unmatched prosperity for the United States, a debt-cutting surplus for its government and—if the Soviet Union cooperates — peace with justice for all the world.

In a confidently optimistic State of the Union message, Eisenhower told applauding members of Congress that income should exceed outgo in the 1961 fiscal year by $4,200,000,000.

Despite a record peacetime spending proposal of nearly $60 billion, the amount left over if Eisenhower is an accurate prophet would be the highest since the Truman administration found itself with an excess of almost $1½ billion in 1948.

Eisenhower, greeting Congress at the start of a presidential election year, recommended that any such surplus be applied against the 290-billion-dollar national debt. He used a pet phrase in lieu of "surplus," saying he preferred "to think of such an item as a reduction of our children's inherited mortgage."

As Republicans cheered and Democrats reacted with mild approval, Eisenhower said that once paying off part of the debt becomes normal practice, the government can proceed to reduce taxes. He did not suggest when that time would arrive. But for the country at large, he declared, "1960 promises to be the most prosperous year in our history."

With diplomats from other nations, including the U.S.S.R., present for the packed joint session of House and Senate, Eisenhower said recent Soviet department offers hope of "a somewhat less strained period" in relations between East and West.

While pleasant promises require the acid test of performance, Eisenhower said, the United States views this apparently favorable opportunity with utmost seriousness.

"We must strive to break the calamitous cycle of frustrations and crises which, if unchecked, could spiral into nuclear disaster," Eisenhower told the nation listening and watching via radio and television. And this, he added, would represent "the ultimate insanity."

While dedicated to peace, Eisenhower said, the United States will not weaken its defenses until measure of enforcing disarmament are worked out.

He said no nation would risk general war, and terrible retaliatory losses, by attacking this country "unless we should be so foolish as to neglect" forces of defense. These have acquired new strength, he said, as the Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile has reached the ready stage.

In 14 recent test firings, Eisenhower reported, the Atlas has been less than the distance of a jet runway off bullseye at ranges of more than 5,000 miles.

Eisenhower also said that increasing numbers of nuclear-powered submarines, "impossible to destroy by surprise attack," will enter the fleet. Some will be armed with 1,200-mile-range Polaris ballistic missiles.

But he held out hope that it will not be necessary to use these weapons.

Peace in the world, Eisenhower said, will lead mankind into "a vast new technological age—one that, despite its capacity for human destruction, has an equal capacity to make poverty and human misery obsolete."

The chief executive received hearty ovations when he entered the House chamber and again when he left. His voice was hoarse near the end of his speech, which lasted 46 minutes and was punctuated by applause 32 times. Most (Continued on Page 2)

Butler Charges Price 'Deal' By Nixon, Steel

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler charged Thursday that Vice President Richard M. Nixon won a secret agreement from the steel companies to hold off any price increases until after the 1960 presidential election.

If Nixon is elected president, Butler said, "the sky's the limit" for any price increases. He predicted that Nixon would not win the presidency.

Butler made his accusation in a speech before the Woman's National Democratic Club here in which he acridly discussed Nixon's role in steel settlement.

Woman Admits Taking Maryland Fruit Employers' Betting Money Growers Given Spray Warning

BALTIMORE (AP)—A woman bookkeeper admitted in court Thursday she embezzled about $3,300, which she claimed was part of the money she was supposed to place in bets for her employers.

Mrs. Catherine M. Cage, 35, mother of three young children, pleaded guilty to charges of forging checks and embezzling money from F. and S. Contracting Co.

Asst. State's Atty. Norman Polski told Judge Anselm Sodaro he would bring the grand jury's attention to the case concerning possible bookmaking charges. Mrs. Cage had testified the bets were placed with members of an auditing and bookkeeping firm, which would be the target of any grand jury action.

Figures produced in court showed $3,142.93 in forgeries and more than $31,100 in embezzlements. But the brunette defendant said most of the sums represented her bosses' losses on horse race bets.

She explained: "The money was going out all around, so I thought I could take a little as a down payment on a home for my children and I expected to pay it back."

Mrs. Cage testified her employers, identified as Frank and Sabatino Trionfo, had been betting from $600 to $800 a week with the bookmakers.

The shortage was discovered last April when Mrs. Cage was away from her job.

Her case was held in abeyance pending grand jury action in the alleged bookmaking, and Judge Sodaro ordered her released in $10,000 bail.

HAGERSTOWN (AP)—Maryland peach and apple growers were warned Thursday to avoid the pitfall of cranberry growers.

The caution came from Dr. Castillo Graham, University of Maryland entomologist who spoke to some 300 members of the Maryland State Horticultural Society, holding its annual convention here.

Dr. Graham distributed a schedule of suggested spraying dates for 1960. He urged growers to note when to discontinue using DDT and lead arsenate.

A couple of errant orchardists could spoil things for all growers, suggested Dr. Graham.

He reminded them of what happened to last year's cranberry crop, when the government black-listed berries from certain areas because a portion of the crop had been sprayed by a chemical which produced cancer in rats. That warning had a depressing effect on the cranberry market as a whole.

Another speaker, Earl Park of the Department of Agriculture, said the USDA is considering a changeover from use of bushels to hundredweights in counting peaches and apples. He said this would make for greater accuracy, since not all bushel measurements are the same.

Park pointed out the hundred-weight measurement is used with a number of other fruits and vegetables.

The convention concludes Friday, when new officers will be elected.

John Sudy, 80, Famed Painter, Dies At Easton

EASTON, Md. (AP)—John Sudy, one of the world's foremost painters of waterfowl, died Thursday of complications arising from a brief illness. He was 80.

During his lifetime he was a diplomat, soldier and linguist in addition to his career as a waterfowl artist.

He was of noble birth, reportedly the last descendant of the last king of Poland, on his mother's side. She was Susan Poniatovska, one of Poland's best-known artists. He also was distantly related to Prince Rainier, who visited Sudy when he was in this country two years ago.

He was born near Prague in 1880 in what then was the province of Bohemia of the Austrian Empire, now part of Czechoslovakia. He began his art studies at the age of 9, studying in all the major cities of Europe.

He was a Hungarian diplomat assigned to Turkey before World War I. When the conflict started, he was appointed a colonel in the Hungarian army. He was captured early in the fighting and shipped to a prison camp at Siberia.

He and a group of others escaped and spent two years walking back to Turkey. By that time the war was over. He sold paintings to raise money to come to the United States in 1921, where he lived in New York City for several years before moving to Maryland's Eastern Shore.

He often said that there was only one diplomatic way to handle a Russian—apply a fist to the point of his chin.

"When you do that," he said, "Ivan immediately understands what you are driving at and gets down to business."

It was on the Eastern Shore that he began specializing in the painting of wild ducks and other waterfowl. Most of his works are in private collections in this country and Europe.

Gulf Oil Agrees To Sell 30% Of Warren Assets

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Trade Commission Thursday announced the biggest antitrust settlement in its history—a consent order requiring Gulf Oil Corp. to sell 35 million dollars worth of properties.

Under the agreement, the big Pittsburgh oil refiner must give up about 30 per cent of the assets it acquired through its purchase in 1956 of Warren Petroleum Corp., Tulsa, Okla.

ly it was the Republicans who clapped—particularly at his references to black-ink government finances.

Five possible contenders for the office Eisenhower vacates little more than a year hence were in the audience. For the Republicans Vice President Richard M. Nixon sat on the rostrum—beside Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.)—as the President spoke. Out front were Democratic Sens. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts and Stuart Symington of Missouri. Humphrey and Kennedy already have announced they are candidates.

Eisenhower said the nation faces "what may be a turning point in history" and said precious time would be wasted in the months ahead by "irrelevant interbranch wrangling."

Reaction to this call for harmony between the White House and Congress, as to other points in Eisenhower's broad-brush depiction of the state of the country and the world, varied as expected according to party faith.

Except for one passage in his long address—not all of which he actually read—the President was grave in word and tone.

He drew laughter from both sides of the aisle when he noted he wasn't the only president faced with a Congress dominated by the opposite party—"except that no other president ever did it for quite so long." Democrats have controlled Congress since 1955.

Hospital Crisis Unbroken

CAMBRIDGE (AP)—The crisis at Cambridge-Maryland Hospital cept to treat emergency cases continued Thursday with no sign there.

The physicians complained of a crack in the wall of hard feelings between doctors and directors.

Latset peace-making effort was a meeting Wednesday night between former directors of the institution and present staff physicians, who number about 15.

There was no indication of any material progress, however. After the session, J. Otis McAllister, a former director, said "if this controversy is not settled soon we might as well hang out a 'ghost town' sign on Cambridge."

McAllister presided at the meeting, which primarily took up complaints of the doctors. They and the board have been at odds for two years or more. The crisis came to a head a few weeks ago when the board fired the chief of surgeon, Dr. John Mace, and physicians boycotted the hospital except to treat emergency cases.

New Wonder Drug Cosmetic Restores Young Look to Skin

Medical Tests Show Helena Rubinstein's Ultra Feminine Face Cream
Reverses Two Aging Processes of Skin and Restores Young Skin Tone

Now it is possible for you to restore the activity of specific skin cells that are aging. Yes, actually to reduce wrinkles due to dryness, to restore young skin tone, to awaken the 'youth supply' cells put to sleep by time! This is beauty news that comes along once in a lifetime! The discovery that has made it possible is Helena Rubinstein's Ultra Feminine Face Cream with estrogen and progesterone, both vital female hormones. This cream—actually a wonder drug cosmetic—has been medically tested by doctors and research scientists, by hospitals, clinics and universities. The results are thrilling!

Skin acts young

After Ultra Feminine treatment, oil glands begin to produce at a younger rate again!

Jewel-like pure crystals of Estrogen and Progesterone—the two vital female hormones in Ultra Feminine Face Cream.

With a plentiful supply of natural oil the skin becomes soft, supple, protected.

Skin tissue cells are able to hold maximum moisture again—that all-important process that makes the skin look young. Aging lines smooth out because the skin surface now rests on a firm, full pillow of moisture-plumped cells!

Works like a prescription

And the whole process, miraculous to behold, is completely natural because estrogen and progesterone are the female hormones which power these cells in youth. Ultra Feminine is actually a wonder drug preparation which works within the skin to replenish these physiological substances which wane with time. It works like a doctor's prescription yet has been proven so safe that you need no prescription to buy it!

Take advantage of this special offer. Start using Ultra Feminine now. In 30 days, you will see the difference.

Helena Rubinstein, creator of Ultra Feminine, the first medically tested face cream that reverses two of the aging processes of the skin.

ONCE-A-YEAR SALE!

Former Farm Manager Guilty In Money Theft

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP) — Carl M. Peddersen, former manager of a farm near Poolesville, has been found guilty of embezzling $13,000.

The money, according to the charge, represented the proceeds from the sale of 60 white-faced cattle shipped to a Lancaster, Pa., cattle market in 1956.

The jury, which deliberated 10 hours, returned its verdict late Wednesday night. Judge Thomas M. Anderson of Montgomery County Circuit Court deferred sentencing.

During the two-day trial Peddersen, former manager of a 22-acre farm owned by Ringgold Hart, a Washington lawyer, maintained his innocence. He admitted, however, fleeing the county in September 1956, but said he surrendered to the FBI in New Orleans because he could not continue to live "looking over my shoulder."

He said he, his wife and child left because of what he described as a disturbing development in a custody suit involving his wife's former husband.

He contended further that the money he took was owed him by Hart and that he was a partner of Hart's.

Hart testified that Peddersen had been an employee, not a partner.

Court Upholds Firing Of Four Accused Reds

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The dismissal of four men who claimed they were fired for refusing to testify about alleged Communist party membership was upheld Thursday by the U.S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals.

Aaron Ostrofsky, Joseph Henderson, William Wood and Benjamin M. Fino had contended they were fired from their jobs at Bethlehem Steel Co.'s Sparrows Point, Md., plant in 1957 after pleading the 5th amendment before the House Un-American Activities Committee.

They brought suit against Bethlehem and their union, the United Steel Workers, for not submitting their dismissal for arbitration.

$808 Awarded In Damage Suit For $100,000

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — A father whose son was injured in a 1958 auto accident which killed three other persons has been awarded $808.75 in his $100,000 damage suit.

An Anne Arundel Circuit Court jury made the award Wednesday to James C. Knight of Pasadena, father of William M. Knight, 21, one of the two survivors of the head-on crash on Fort Smallwood Road.

The son, who sought $150,000 damages, received no award.

The suits were brought against Charles Leroy Pailer of Baltimore County, administrator of the estate of Charles Louis Pailer of Pasadena, and Clarence W. Stinchcomb Jr., 21, and Clarence W. Stinchcomb Sr. of Pasadena.

Charles Pailer, 60, driver of one car in the crash, and his 44-year-old wife Helen, were killed. The younger Stinchcomb, who was injured, was the other driver. William Knight was a passenger in his car.

The Knights contended both Charles Pailer and the younger Stinchcomb were guilty of negligence. The jury found only Pailer at fault and awarded the $808.75 from his estate.

Tavern Ejectee Awarded $8,750

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — A man thrown out of a Hagerstown tavern has been awarded $8,750 for his suffering.

The award was set Wednesday by a circuit court jury in favor of Harold E. Wise, who sued tavern proprietor J. Preston Martin for $25,000.

Wise said he suffered a broken leg last Feb. 28 when ejected from Martin's establishment. The injury resulted in a lame leg, preventing him from continuing work as a truck driver, Wise contended.

Some of the big trees of California may eventually reach an age of 10 thousand years.

Embezzler Given Suspended Sentence

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — An 18-year-old Baltimore man was charged Thursday with raping an 11-year-old girl in a cemetery.

The charge was placed against James Leslie Presley, who was arrested at his home Tuesday afternoon.

Presley is charged by police with picking up the girl in his car in Parkville Sunday after threatening her with a knife.

Charged With Rape

BALTIMORE (AP) — Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell will speak next Tuesday at the dedication of the new $5,135,000 headquarters of the Department of Employment security here.

He and Gov. Tawes will unveil a commemorative plaque at the close of the ceremony which will draw about 50 federal, state and municipal officials.

The six-story structure, completed early last month, houses the department's 800 Baltimore employees under one roof for the first time since the DES opened 22 years ago.

It is located in the Mount Royal Plaza municipal renewal area about a block from the new state office building and State Roads Commission headquarters.

Radium will halve its value in approximately 1,800 years.

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI)—A new parlor game — whose enthusiasts range from Winston Churchill to the college crowd—is child's play.

Inspiration for the game struck Jerry D'Arcey, of San Jose, Calif., the day he noticed regular blocks bored his children.

He went to his workshop and made blocks with angles — triangles, rectangles, right angles and odd angles. He splashed the blocks with bright colors.

The entertainment comes from trying to balance the blocks, one on top of the other, until a zig-zag tower rises — without toppling. Each player gets three chances. If the tower topples on third try, the participant is a — Blockhead, the name given the game.

Ben Spero, vice president of the firm that makes the game, said Winston Churchill's daughter — in-law recently cabled a request for the game, asking that it be sent in time for Christmas.

The set, he said, was for Sir Winston. Reportedly, the distinguished statesman tumbled for Blockhead when they played the game for the first time at a party on the French Riviera.

But the game has more than entertaining value. Spero said a group of Lutheran missionaries discovered Blockhead helped them to communicate with natives. They're now sending it around the world.

In some Veteran's Administration hospitals, the game is used as therapy.

"A Pittsburgh restaurant," Spero said, "encourages its patrons to play Blockhead while waiting for tables."

D'Arcey sold his rights to the game to a Pittsburgh industrialist. More than a million sets have been sold.

Rose Statuary Gift To Israel

NEW YORK (UPI) — Showman Billy Rose is giving Israel his million-dollar statuary collection for a five-acre garden on a hilltop in the middle of Jerusalem, it was announced Wednesday night.

Disclosure of Rose's gift was made at the annual dinner-concert of the America-Israel Cultural Foundation. Wednesday night's affair honored movie magnate Spyros P. Skouras.

Samuel Rubin, foundation president, announced that Rose not only has donated his entire 50-piece statuary collection to Israel, but will finance the construction and landscaping of the garden in which they will be displayed.

The collection includes works of Rodin, Maillol, Dumier, Jacques Lipchitz and Sir Jacob Epstein.

AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — With the steel dispute settled, tight money quickly took over as the No. 1 problem as far as the stock market is concerned.

Brokers said apprehension over the availability of lending funds and high interest rates adversely affected the New York Stock Exchange Wednesday.

E. F. Hutton & Co. said "The congestion in the money market is such that interest rates may well rise far beyond general expectations in the next 60 days."

Hutton's analyst, Joseph E. Granville, pointed out that on Monday long-dated issues of Treasury discount paper were exchanged at the highest rates in the history of the bill market.

Bill yields rose to 5.38 per cent. The Treasury paid a record 5.099 per cent to borrow money for six months.

"These rapid changes in the money market have caused the New York State Power Authority to cut their fund raising objective of 200 million dollars on Jan. 12 by 40 per cent, awaiting better market conditions," Granville noted. "It will be recalled that the state of California deferred an offering not long ago also to await better market conditions."

"These deferments are becoming more expensive, not cheaper for the borrowers who await more favorable rates."

Hemphill, Noyes & Co., reporting on its study of 1,053 actively traded common stocks of the 1,092 common issues listed on the New York Stock Exchange, says:

"The five largest industrial groups — autos, chemicals, electrical equipments, oils and steels — which account for 40 per cent of the value of the entire market, gained 6.07 per cent as a group in 1959."

Oils dropped nearly 11 per cent dollarwise but electrical equipments, best performers in the group, gained more than 29 per cent.

Christopher Columbus is said to have received payment amounting to $320 for discovering America.

Snow Ball To Feature Hospital

The charity "Snow Balls" sponsored by the Memorial Hospital Auxiliary each year have always featured elaborate decorations, and C. A. Teubner, well-known local decorator, has assisted the committee in every way possible to achieve this result.

Although complete details regarding the decorations are never announced in advance, this year a hospital theme will be the feature, according to Mrs. Fuller B. Whitworth and Mrs. George M. Young, cochairmen of decorations.

The hall, which is strictly formal, will be held January 16 at the Cumberland Country Club beginning at 10 p. m., with music by the Huntsmen of Pittsburgh. Proceeds for this year's ball, which will be the fourth annual affair, are to be used to complete the non-sectarian chapel in the nurses' home, for dedication later this month; completing the refurbishing and decorating of the hospital lobby; and opening a snack bar for visitors at the hospital.

As the club can accommodate only 175 couples, the ticket sale is limited to auxiliary members first. The deadline for answering is January 11. Then the remaining tickets will be available to non-members of the auxiliary.

Mrs. Richard Schwab and Mrs. Mark L. Lazarus Jr. are working on a mural for one of the rooms at the club. Mrs. Richard W. Trevisan Jr., Mrs. George Newman and Mrs. W. H. Oburn are planning the decorations for the lobby, which will include a backdrop for the many prizes to be distributed during the evening.

The general committee assisting Mrs. Whitworth and Mrs. Young includes Mrs. Frederic Eiler, Mrs. Irving Millenson, Mrs. George Griffith, Mrs. Mortimer C. Schadt, Mrs. John O. Durst, Mrs. Frank McCagh, Mrs. Roy Lotig, Mrs. William George, Mrs. Paul Fletcher, Mrs. Simon Rosenbaum II, Mrs. John Moberly and Mrs. William H. Ryan, president of the auxiliary.

Club Will Continue Workshops

The Bedford Road Homemakers Club decided to continue the workshops and voted to have secret sisters this year. Mrs. Theodore Wojcik conducted the meeting and announced her committees. It was held Tuesday in Zion Methodist Church. The workshops are to be held the last Tuesday of the month at 10 a. m. in the church. Knitting, crocheting and needlepoint classes will be held preceding the next meeting.

Two new members were enrolled. They are Mrs. Wayne Shumaker and Mrs. Marion Day. Following the flag salute, Mrs. James Stemple read the collect. Mrs. Paul Gilford directed group singing, with Mrs. Thurman Cassell at the piano.

Chairmen are Mrs. Frederick Roberts, Mrs. Estel Oster, clothing; Mrs. LaMar Wentling, family life; Mrs. Bernard Fleigle, food and nutrition; Mrs. Wayne Shumaker, Mrs. Robert Perrin, health and safety; Mrs. William Knisely, home furnishing; Mrs. S. Other members present were Mrs. William Kight, Mrs. Beulah Montesant and Mrs. Robert Williams.

The group sang "O Brother Man, Fold To Thy Heart Thy Brother." Mrs. Eleanor DelaGrange, Miss Arlene Hardinger, Miss Marjory Hardinger, Mrs. Street, Mrs. Flossie Andrews and Miss Street sang, "Thy Brother Calls To Thee." Prayer was offered by Miss Doris Day.

The first presentation will be at Gephart School, January 15; the second at the Brethren Church, January 21; third at East Side School, January 29, and the fourth, at Johnson Heights School, February 4. The recreation period of songs and games was arranged by Mrs. Ruppert.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

How To Treat Those Lovely Teen-Eyes

When teen-age girls begin to use eye cosmetics for the first time, their eyes deserve their first efforts. A lot of eye-appeal and a little lipstick will bridge beautifully that impatient span until both years and complexion give the all-clear signal.

Eye-appeal, meanwhile, doesn't mean a Theda Bara barrage. The full treatment needs the test of time . . . after a lot of time spent testing.

Test yourself, now, on tweezing. You want a natural definitive line to your eyes . . . and uncluttering those brows will help. Perhaps you'll want your first tweezing eased by professional treatment at a beauty salon; it isn't expensive and you can learn while you look.

To care for those shaggy brows at home, adopt the ways of the experts. Clean the brow area with soap, then rinse with warm water to soften and moisten. If you then swab with a cotton-ful of antiseptic lotion, you'll make the whole operation safer and less painful.

With sterile tweezers, pluck each stray hair in its natural growing direction. And stick to the strays — the fuzz over the bridge of the nose, the hit-and-miss hairs under the brows.

The ends and the arch of the eyebrows should be retained—for taming with a bit of vaseline and an eyebush. A film of cream on upper lids and lashes should be just the pretty eye-fur for everyday wear.

When brows are pale and sparse, (and or if you wear glasses), bring out the eyebrow pencil to bring out your eyes. After plucking and brushing, pale brows will gain dimension and color when you fill in fine hairs with deft short pencil strokes. They won't look as if you planted them there yourself if you work with two shades of brown pencil.

Ann Landers . . .
Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You are a dream school for girls and are much too soft on teen-agers. I almost keeled over when you recently advised a mother to limit her gabby 15-year-old daughter to 20 minutes for a telephone call. You said, "Anything worth saying can be said in 20 minutes."

Why Annie, don't you know the most significant messages of history can be delivered in far fewer than 20 minutes? The Gettysburg Address, Thanatopsis, The Lord's Prayer, the Preamble to the Constitution, The Ten Commandments, to name a few. Even your own daily pearls of wisdom would take less than five minutes to read.

Please review your advice and tell those mothers to lop the phone time to five minutes. It's plenty.—MOUNT CLEMENTS.

DEAR FRIEND: Thanks for the sermon from The Mount. I have news for you. Teen-agers don't hardly phone each other to recite the Gettysburg Address or Thanatopsis any more. They yak about what happened at school, who's going with whom, what to wear tomorrow and other earth-shaking issues which to them are matters of life and death.

This type of communication is important to teen-agers. While it may not be productive, it's not destructive and one 20-minute gab session per evening gets my O. K. "provided no one is waiting for the phone."

DEAR ANN LANDERS: When I was in the service I met a very lovely girl. Her folks were kind to me and I had many a good meal with them.

I am back home now and have written and invited the girl to meet my folks. I told her she could stay in our house. She wrote back that she and her mother would love to.

We just don't have room for them both. I figured my girl could share my sister's room which has the only extra bed in the house. Also, if her mother came my folks would have to entertain her and they aren't the social type. What shall I do?—BAD SPOT.

DEAR SPOT: Apparently this girl doesn't consider it proper to visit alone in the home of a boy to whom she's not engaged—and hooray for her.

Surely you have a relative, friend or neighbor who could put them both up for two nights (this is plenty). Or why not borrow a cot for your sister and give Mama her bed?

DON'T suggest the mother not come. It would be impolite and put you in a bad light.

DEAR ANN: I'm a high school senior with good grades. I want to go to a midwestern university but can't decide which one. Dad is a graduate of The University of Michigan. He keeps telling me how great Ann Arbor is and he'll be heartbroken if I don't go there.

Mom went to the University of Illinois. She says Champaign is

Queen Likes Pretty Maternity Clothes

By MARGARET SAVILLE
LONDON (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth is like most women in thinking that clothes for the expectant mother should be as colorful and pretty as possible.

In fact, she goes one step further — she says that maternity clothes should be pretty enough to wear AFTER the happy event.

And her private dressmaker, Miss Avis Ford, who makes her simple stay-at-home clothes, agrees with her completely.

Because the Queen always is under public scrutiny, she must look her best, especially now that she is expecting her third child. No new maternity clothes have been designed for this royal "lady when two men showed up for in waiting."

She already had several loosely-cut coats and dresses which she finds suitable. She even has discovered that her favorite full-skirted short dinner dresses can be worn until well after Christmas.

But wide-skirted evening gowns with exquisite embroidery and jeweled trimming have been stored away for the time being. One new casual suit of gray room-tweed with a pleated skirt and back to London only when state square fox jacket was added to or official duties demand her presence. This was once.

To ward off the chill winds during her outdoor walks, she pulls on a heavy blue tweed coat, thick flat heeled shoes, discards more formal hats and ties a colorful scarf over her head.

Reluctantly the Queen gave up riding and contents herself with keeping a maternal eye on Princess Anne as she has her morning gallop and practices jumping in Windsor Great Park.

POWER OF PRESS
SOUTH ORANGE, N.J. (UPI) — Members of the Sisterhood for Three Temples were flattered when two men showed up for their luncheon meeting and identified themselves as newspaper reporters assigned to cover the affair.

But their joy vanished when it was discovered that the men belonged to something other than the Fourth Estate. Before disappearing, the "reporters" stole three mink coats valued at a total of $11,000 from the cloakroom.

Congress Issues, Possible Fate

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Big issues facing Congress and how they may be resolved:

Taxes—House Speaker Sam Rayburn ruled out major tax cuts. But he did not eliminate the possibility of closing some loopholes.

Civil Rights—Enactment of compromise legislation is almost certain. Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) said it is "obvious" Congress will consider and "act on" a bill.

Defense-Space Spending—The administration plans to request about 41 billion dollars. Key Democrats favor more emphasis on military missiles plus expansion of the civilian space program.

Minimum Wage—Rayburn predicted the $1-an-hour minimum will be boosted to $1.10 or $1.25, "there probably will be some extension in coverage."

School Construction—Rayburn said a bill would be considered. However, a stalemate—with President Eisenhower and Democrats backing rival plans—almost rules out chances for a new law to relieve the classroom shortage.

Social Security—As it has in every election year since 1948, Congress plans to do something for the older folks.

Monetary Policy—The battle over "tight money" will be fought probably inconclusively on two fronts.

Farm—Democrats won't go along with Eisenhower's plea for lower farm price supports. Eisenhower is almost sure to veto any alternative plan for cutting farm surpluses which proves acceptable to Congress. Rayburn indicated doubt that any new farm legislation would become law, under the circumstances.

Arrests Made In All But 6 Of 90 Baltimore Murders Last Year

BALTIMORE (AP)—Ninety persons were murdered in Baltimore last year, and police made arrests in all but six cases, Commissioner James H. Hepburn said Wednesday.

The total of homicides was 12 below 1958.

Sixty-four of the victims were Negroes, and the murder list included 24 women.

The most baffling of the unsolved murders, Capt. George Klemmick said, was that of William Mayfield, 32, of Morgantown, W. Va. he was found strapped by his neck to a railing at a school May 21. An autopsy disclosed he had been strangled and sexually assaulted.

Mayfield was described as a fugitive from a Morgantown jail

Actress Karen Sharpe Considers TV 'Man's World' For Stardom

By DOUGLAS DILTZ

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Petite Karen Sharpe, who plays the role of Laura in the "Johnny Ringo" television series, considers TV "a man's world where an actress hasn't got much of a chance at stardom."

Referring specifically to filmed video series, Karen complained: "Television apparently doesn't think too much of the fairer sex, insofar as this field is concerned."

"Of course," she admitted, "there's Lucille Ball, Ann Sothern and Loretta Young — maybe a couple others. But they're exceptions and are heavily outnumbered by the males."

"Besides, you'll also notice that all three of these girls are veteran actresses."

City Receives Complaints On Increased Water Bills

Despite public meetings with groups involved and widespread publicity, the City Water Department said yesterday it is receiving numerous complaints about the increase in rates for out-of-city users which went into effect last September 1.

Bills for the last quarter which contain the increase for the first time, have been mailed to some sections and are being mailed to others, Chief Clerk James Twigg said.

Receipt of the bills has resulted in many calls complaining about "lack of notice" on the increase. The increase applies only to out-of-city users of city water. It upped the minimum charge from $6.75 to $10.

While the boost in rates did not affect city users on meters, new regulations do call for abolishing of flat rates and placing all in-city customers on meters by January 1, 1961. Those remaining on the flat rate are paying not less than $12 minimum under the new setup, compared to $11.55 previously. This is, in effect, a penalty for remaining on the flat rate, officials said.

When the ordinances went into effect last September, the city had 803 customers on flat rates. That number has been reduced to 450 and steady reduction is expected since first quarter bills with the new rates are being distributed, Twigg said.

Urges Policy Changes

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A Senate small business committee report urges that the Treasury Department revamp its "outmoded tax depreciation policies" to meet demands for the nation's economic growth. Small firms are particularly hard hit because of their capital limitations, the report said. Sen. John J. Sparkman (D-Ala.), committee chairman, submitted the report yesterday. It was based on joint hearings held by two subcommittees headed by Sens. George A. Smathers (D-Fla.) and Alan Bible (D-Nev.).

City Begins Study On Plan To Replace Scales

The city is looking into the possibility of purchasing new scales to replace those which have been condemned by the State Department of Weights and Measures.

Mayor J. Edwin Keech said yesterday that Finance Commissioner Lucile Roeder and City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson had turned over their files on the scales to City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum who is to make a study, report and recommend future action.

Cost of installing new scales is a major consideration. The city has conducted weighing operations for more than 35 years as a coal mine about 120 miles from a service and protection to both trucks and citizens.

Since the scales were condemned in November, weighing operations have been carried on at those owned by Cumberland Contracting Company which is situated next to the city scalehouse at the Valley Street warehouse.

However, the contracting company's scales are available only at certain hours during the day while the city operations had been on a 24-hour basis. It was reported that December receipts from the city weighing dipped sharply. The city presently charges 10 cents for each 1,000 pounds.

Mayor Keech said that if new schedule. When council learned its scales had to be replaced, two alternatives appeared. One plan, which would have cost from $12,000 to $15,000 and was considered prohibitive, called for relocating the scales, widening scope of activity and employing four instead of three men. The other would be to replace the scales at the present location, digging the pit deeper and making the platform longer which, it was believed, could be accomplished at a "much better price."

At the present time, the city employs Guy F. Long as weighmaster and two watchmen at the Street Department warehouse have filled in at the scalehouse to keep it on a full-day operation.

Keech recalled that Gibson has said the scales have "broken even" in the past. The Alpine willow which does not exceed six inches in height is the smallest tree in the United States.

Inmate Decides To Drop Withdrawal; Habeas Corpus Hearing Set Jan. 19

Glenn L. Weddle, an inmate of the Patuxent Institution, has changed his mind about withdrawing his petition for a writ of habeas corpus after all, and as a result will be given a hearing before Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris in Allegany County Circuit Court at 11 a.m. Tuesday, January 19.

Weddle had sent the court a letter dated December 23 withdrawing his petition for a writ of habeas corpus. In that communication he had said he would file a revised petition under the Post Conviction Procedure Act. He had contended that the court had infringed his constitutional rights by denying him a court-appointed lawyer and that he be remanded to the institution for an indefinite period of time.

Weddle wrote another letter to the court here dated January 4 in which he explained that his withdrawal letter had been written before he received a communication from Judge Harris granting his petition for a writ of habeas corpus. He asked that his letter requesting the withdrawal be disregarded. Thomas N. Berry will act as his court-appointed attorney.

Weddle was granted a review by a jury on May 6, 1957, by then Chief Judge George Henderson.

Union Rejects Pact Offer

Workers at the Celviver plant of the Celanese Corporation of America at Rock Hill, S. C., have rejected a contract proposal of the company, according to information received here.

The company proposal would have extended the contract until March 19, 1962.

Celanese industrial relations manager Ben H. Sands said the two-year wage and vacation proposal would average 14 cents per hour for the more than 1,500 hourly-paid employees covered by the labor agreement.

The present contract will end March 19, 1961, but there is a "wage-reopener" clause for March of 1960.

Sands said the company's proposal would "eliminate the wage reopener by giving a raise now and another automatic raise next year."

The proposal provides a 4 per cent wage increase for early in 1960 with the 1961 raise amounting to 6 cents per hour.

Vacation schedules included in the new proposal would provide one week's vacation with 2 per cent of pay earned during the preceding calendar year for one to three years of service, two weeks' vacation for three to ten years of service, and three weeks' vacation at 6 per cent of annual pay for ten years of service or more.

Brigitte's Doctor Quits

PARIS (UPI)—Brigitte Bardot, who expects the stork at any moment, has balked at her doctor's orders and he has quit, friends said Thursday. The gynecologist, Dr. Theophile Laennec, was reported to have told BB and her husband Jacques Charrier that if they ignored his advice he would quit. They did and he did, friends said. "I cannot accept responsibility for the delivery of this baby," Laennec was quoted.

Judge Upholds Decision In Injury Claim

Judge Morgan C. Harris yesterday in a hearing in Allegany County Court House upheld a finding of the State Workmen's Compensation Commission that a former amateur weightlifter had injured his back while working for a local contractor.

Danforth Thorp of this city had filed the claim against Presley Mauk, contractor, after the injury was sustained on March 2, 1957. The hearing was held before the commission in November 1957 and two findings were returned.

One was that Thorp, hired as a laborer at $1.50 an hour and hurt on his first day at work, was not a casual employee and therefore came under the Workmen's Compensation Act. Casual employees are not qualified.

The other was that the doctors who examined Thorp found that there was an actual injury sustained to his back when he fell over shrubs while carrying a 45-pound block.

The commission ordered that Thorp was temporarily totally disabled and should be paid $35 a week compensation from March 6, 1957, to June 1957.

This verdict was appealed in 1957 and only yesterday were arguments on the appeal heard by Judge Harris.

It was pointed out that during his weightlifting days, Thorp, a stocky, well-built man, could press or push up into the air a 250-pound bar bell.

Judge Harris upheld the commission in finding that he was not a casual employee, and did sustain an accidental injury.

The case now goes back to the commission to re-determine the amount of the compensation award.

Edward J. Ryan was attorney for Thorp and James A. Avirett was counsel for Mauk.

NEW YORK (UPI)—At 4 a.m. the bark close in New York City and firemen at a midtown firehouse had that in mind when a man walked in to report a fire in an aquarium. They investigated and found it — a small blaze in an electrical pump for a fish tank in the aquarium of a midtown tropical fish store.

City Seeking Bids On Sewer Relocation Job

The Mayor and Council will receive bids until 10 a.m. Monday, January 18, on the Thomas Street sewer relocation project, according to Street Commissioner John J. Long.

Bids will be received at the office of City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery. Work consists of furnishing labor, equipment and material for the laying of 430 linear feet of 15-inch V. C. pipe; 126 linear feet of 10 inch V.C. pipe, including necessary manholes and connections, all shown on contract plans which can be obtained at the office of the city engineer, City Hall.

Successful bidder will be required to enter into a contract with the city and each proposal must be accompanied by a certified check in the amount of $200 which the successful bidder will forfeit as liquidated damages in event the contract is not properly executed within 10 days after mailing of notice of the award.

All bids must be plainly marked on the envelope "Bid For Laying of Thomas Street Sewer Relocation." Council reserves the right to reject all bids.

Carroll has been in B&O service since April 1, 1917. He was a crossing watchman and was promoted to switchtender September 1, 1917.

Opening lead: Deuce of ♥ Considerable foresight and the courage of his convictions were essential ingredients to the successful defense put up by East today.

Against the final doubled contract, West opened the deuce of hearts. East won with the queen, and South followed with the six. East could reasonably count on two hearts and a diamond, but held forth little hope for a club trick, because he was reasonably sure that declarer held the ace-queen of clubs as well as the ace-queen of spades for his bids.

He could see that the club finesse would be taken and any small club ruffed by declarer in dummy. The hearts would be cleared and the trumps extracted, after which play East would be given the lead in the diamond suit, and would almost surely have no safe return. A heart or a club would give declarer a ruff and a discard, and a diamond lead would be into dummy's tenace.

It was vital, therefore, to give West the lead early in the play so that he could lead a diamond. The one hope was that the opening lead had been made from the jack.

East, therefore, at trick two, led a small heart. West won with the jack and realized that his partner was desperately trying to get him to lead something. It was the easy to deduce that it must be a all-time high that Sir Laurence diamond. The six of diamonds came forth, and declarer had no choice but to finesse. East covered dummy's ten with the jack, making the third trick for his side. He was not able to exit with the club. There was nothing declarer could do at the end but to try the second diamond finesse and when it failed, he was down one.

HOLLYWOOD—No actress has been more firm against doing TV than Ava Gardner, who has said "no" to many fabulous offers. Now she is about to change her mind and is expected to star in a live hour-and-a-half show for BBC in London. I hear direct led a small heart. West won with the jack and realized that his partner was desperately trying to get him to lead something. It was the easy to deduce that it must be a all-time high that Sir Laurence diamond. The six of diamonds came forth, and declarer had no choice but to finesse. East covered dummy's ten with the jack, making the third trick for his side. He was not able to exit with the club. A very personable young man, Rory Harrity, Aileen Brenon's stepson, and the son of Richard Harrity, author and playwright, has checked into 20th Century-Fox. Rory, who recently graduated from Harvard will be seen in "From the Terrace," which stars Joanne Woodward and Paul Newman.

It was director Mark Robson who paged Rory after he had made a test. I have been hearing about Rory for a long time, and now he is also testing for the lead in the TV series "Don't Tell Roger," a Ralph Levy production. Looks as if everything good is happening to my old friend Aileen's family. Her husband, in conjunction with Ralph Martin, has a 23-page layout in the Jan. 19 issue of Look magazine, "The Human Side of F.D.R.," which will also be published in book form Jan. 30, Roosevelt's birthday.

Despite the threats of the real life Holly Golightly to sue if her name is used as the heroine of "Breakfast at Tiffany's," Martin Jurov and Richard Shepherd have decided to keep the name which author Truman Capote dreamed up for his fictional heroine. Maybe by the time the movie gets into work the real Miss Golightly will have cooled down. Jurov and Shepherd have another project on tap before starting "Breakfast."

Having acquired the screen rights to "Jenny B9," the Playhouse 90 TV show about alcoholics which starred Piper Laurie, they'll film that first. Dick tells me they are sending up flares for Natalie Wood to play the role in which Piper made such a hit.

Today you can buy on the bookstands a copy of "I, Becky Barrymore," illustrated by Lionel Barrymore. The author, Benson Wheeler, tells me that when Lionel died, there was still an unfinished drawing on his board.

The nice thing about buying one of these books is that 50 per cent of all monies earned from the sale goes to our motion picture country home, where so many of our one-time stars and players live, and are so beautifully cared for. Becky Barrymore was the stray cat that Lionel adopted, and the story is charming.

MONROE, Wis. (UPI)—County board members inspecting the new Green County jail told Sheriff A. Charles Howe that a mess table weighing 200 pounds looked as if it could be thrown around too easily.

Howe turned the table over and had it filled with cement until it weighed 1,000 pounds. A mechanical hoist had to be called to turn the table rightside up.

Area Nazarenes Help Establish Giving Record

Seven Nazarene churches in Western Maryland and nearby Pennsylvania helped the Church of the Nazarene nationally establish a new denominational record in giving for 1959 of $135.51 per member.

Area churches of this denomination include First Church on Oldtown Road in Cumberland, Cumberland Bethel Church in Bowman's Addition, Frostburg and Moscow churches also in Allegany County, the Oakland church in Garrett County and Bedford and Hyndman churches in nearby Pennsylvania.

The Hyndman congregation is now engaged in the construction of a church building and parsonage at a cost of about $25,000. Assisting in the expansion of the denomination's missionary program has been Gene Smith, a son of the First Church here, who is a teaching missionary in Haiti.

Total denominational giving for all purposes was $42,183,554, an increase of about two million dollars from the 1958 total of $40,140,220. Church membership climbed to 311,299 — a net gain of 9,624, an increase of 3.19 per cent over 1958.

The denomination started 159 new churches in 1959, an average

State Has More Phones Than 141 World Countries

The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company has some interesting figures which reveal that there are more telephones in use in Maryland than there are in 141 of the world's countries or political entities.

According to the 1959 issue of The World's Telephones, released by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, only 12 countries excluding the United States had more phones in use than Maryland's current total of 1,232,000.

These countries are Netherlands, Switzerland, 1,402,155; Spain, 1,490,151; Australia, 1,998,704; Sweden, 2,526,424; Italy, 3,183,455; Russia, 3,700,000; France, 3,703,578; Japan, 4,334,602; West Germany, 5,090,102; Canada, 5,122,519; Great Britain, 7,525,000.

The United States now has nearly 71,000,000 telephones in use. Several of the world's countries or dependencies still have no phone service at all. Some of these include Bhutan, the Aden Protectorate and Trucial Oman, in Asia, and Pitcairn Island, the Gilberts and Nauru, in Oceania.

However, Marylanders can telephone to 130 other countries or areas, including such exotic-sounding places as the Fiji Islands, Papua and Bechuanaland, through overseas connections.

Potomac Park Boy

The parents' prayers were first answered last January 18 when the heavy cast was removed from Rusty's left leg. They had taken his shoes to the hospital, and as he stood up in them, they held their breath.

But the Foundation magic had worked. Slowly, he walked toward his mother and father. With therapy, Foundation provided, his leg muscles have healed completely. He now walks without a limp.

But he has not been so fortunate with his crippled arm. It is still supported by a brace.

King Arrives In Cairo

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — King Mohammed V of Morocco arrived here Thursday to begin a 30-day tour of the Middle East.

Improvement is painfully slow. Twice a week, he receives treatments from Miss Margaret Poole, a physical therapist who is employed by the state of Maryland and works with the local Foundation chapter.

During January, the roll of Rusty's toy drum is a symbol of victory for an army of volunteers that is marching under the leadership of March of Dimes Chairman Hugh A. McMullen — to guarantee continued funds for the unfortunate with his crippled arm. It is still supported by a brace.

A Needed Study Of Air Tragedy

The Senate Commerce Subcommittee on Aviation next Tuesday begins hearings on airline safety, but that doesn't mean that Senator A. S. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.) is dissatisfied with the operation of his brain-child, the Federal Aviation Agency. This is the organization created by the 1958 Federal Aviation Act to take over the aviation functions of the Civil Aeronautics Administration, the Airways Modernization Board, and the Secretary of Commerce, plus the safety regulation functions of the Civil Aeronautics Board.

What worries Monroney is that the 1959 air accident record was one of the worst in recent years. By December 20, deaths from crashes of scheduled airliners had soared to 329, more than twice those of 1958. Fatalities per thousand passenger miles were at least double those of the preceding year.

Monroney admits he sees "no pattern" to the accidents. But when Congress enacted the 1958 measure, Monroney points out, "the industry and the public were assured that the appropriate Congressional committees would maintain vigilant oversight of the act's operation."

As for the FAA, its policy is to make haste slowly. As the agency pointed out in a statement of December 31: "All specific airspace actions, as well as changes in instrument flight procedures, must be placed before the public for review and comment prior to finalization. Charts must be published to acquaint pilots with the airspace changes. Not only do these tasks involve extensive detail, but the agency also must insure complete accuracy for the sake of safety."

These Days

Small Papers

It all started because of a belief that there is an inside story, something that is known only to an esoteric few. So newsletters and small newspapers, typewritten, mimeographed and printed began to appear. They arrive from all parts of the country. Some deal with "inside" stories, something that nobody else knows, something that gives anyone an advance notice of events to come. Most of the material can be found in newspapers and magazines.

Some of the small papers deal with stock market information and while they usually avoid giving tips, their greatest value to the reader is that they point the way to an investment. In a bullish market, such information does little harm, except that as the small boys say, everything that goes up must come down. Most times the advice is given by such as do not invest because they have nothing to invest, but then they explain that it is not necessary to be a horse to understand a horse, which is logic of a kind.

Then, of course, there are the hate sheets that fill the mail; hate Jews, hate Roman Catholics, hate Negroes; just hate because there is money in hating. These scurrilous sheets must be very profitable because there are so many of them, all badly written, vilely printed, historically incorrect. Nevertheless, they come week after week and someone pays the postage.

Then there are the blackmail sheets. These unlabeled documents are sometimes well-printed, on good paper and even cleverly written but always they praise someone so obviously that after an issue or two it is as clear as though put on a masthead, who pays the bill. And always there is a defamation of character, an attack on an individual or on a business, a threat of more to come and an obvious indication that the subject to be discussed might find a way to have the whole thing dropped.

There used to be a fellow in Shanghai, many years ago, who went by the title of journalist, who walking along the Bund or up Bubbling Well Road would encounter a subject, stop him, tell him a story and swiftly turn on his heel and depart before the subject caught his breath. If the subject did nothing about it, a subsequent issue of a small paper, labelled the "Go-Down," would contain the story with the following introduction: "It has been said, but it has not been denied."

The current breed does not give that much notice. It explodes a tale to ruin a reputation, to break a business or to engage in a war of nerves. Sometimes, the so-called peep-hole columnists, lacking an item or two, will pull something from these small papers and thus a planted rumor about a lady's virtue, a business-man's prosperity, an important person's health, the relations of a husband and a wife will be given credence without investigation and without truth.

The small papers come and go and their subscription fees are comparatively exorbitant. They can afford to charge whatever they choose, but many copies must be sent free because although I subscribe to not a one, I receive many and in the course of a week am astonished at how many there are and how many unsavory persons must earn a living bringing unhappiness to decent folks who are unwilling to defend themselves on the supposition that they will not dignify a louse. On the other hand, there are those who having once had some kind of misfortune, have subsequently lived lives of integrity and usefulness and have no desire to have old coals raked over.

This is an ancient form of journalism and is, in a manner, encouraged by the mores of the times, which seem to recognize the disreputable as celebrities along with the most distinguished. Ladies of the night often appear in the newspapers as celebrities and business news often gives credence to the so-called geniuses who, in time, turn out to be frauds.

The small paper is very much like payola on radio and television. It is a form of journalism which is very old indeed, probably as old as the human race and its particular format is based on the assumption that all the world enjoys seeing a fat and pompous person slip on a banana peel and fall on his face. It caters to primitive sadism.

Background Report On The Steel Settlement

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON Vice President Richard M. Nixon and his friend and ally, Secretary of Labor James Mitchell, are rightly given most of the credit for the vital steel settlement, which prevents another crippling strike and many another misfortune besides.

The method used has not been understood, however, and it is certainly well worth understanding. In brief, Nixon and Mitchell devoted their major efforts to convincing the steel companies' managements that the political climate was hostile; and that, in the event of another strike, management would suffer more than labor at the hands of Congress.

This was no resort to empty threat, either. Nixon and Mitchell quite simply gave the steel executives their cool-headed and thoroughly informed judgment of the Congressional response to a renewal of the steel strike, which seemed so likely only a few days ago. Mitchell alone probably would not have been believed, Nixon had to be believed, however.

The political assessment offered by Nixon was so important, because there was still a considerable spill-over from the attitudes of last summer. At that time, the steel managements figuratively wrapped themselves in Old Glory, with the stars and stripes re-embroidered with the President's initials. In this temporary toga, they proclaimed that their sole purpose was to fight inflation as the President had commanded them to do. They heard no hint from the White House, either, that the line they were taking was not altogether in accord with the President's views.

The tactics used by Nixon and Mitchell were as interesting as their strategy. In brief, their really active intervention in the steel dispute only began after the President clothed the Vice President with solid authority to act. This occurred just before Eisenhower left for his world trip, when he asked Nixon to "do what he could" to secure a steel settlement.

On December 8, accordingly, Nixon and Mitchell met secretly in New York with Roger Blough, of U. S. Steel, Charles White, of Republic Steel, Arthur Homer, of Bethlehem, and Conrad Cooper, the chosen negotiator for all the other companies involved in the dispute with the United Steelworkers. This first meeting was primarily exploratory. The aim was to discover the kind of settlement the steel managements might go along with. But Nixon and Mitchell also warned that a prompt settlement was certainly the cheapest way out.

This first secret meeting in New York led to three other meetings in Washington, one between Nixon, Mitchell, and Roger Blough of U. S. Steel, one between Nixon, Mitchell, Blough, and David McDonald of the Steelworkers, and one between Nixon, Mitchell, Blough, Conrad Cooper, and the Steelworkers' lawyer, Arthur Goldberg.

The purpose of all these meetings was to use Nixon's authority to persuade the industry representatives to come to terms.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

ROOSEVELT CLAN—A Washington newspaper received a call from the Library of Congress information section recently asking whether it had information on the number of grandchildren of Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, widow of FRD.

The reporter thought for a moment and came up with the bright suggestion that the inquirer should call the office of Mrs. Roosevelt's son, James, a Congressman from California.

"That's not going to work," the library employee said. "That's where the request came from."

The newspaper thereupon called Mrs. Roosevelt and found out, for its own satisfaction, that she has 21 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren. She admitted laughingly that she found it a little difficult to keep track of the youngsters.

But this didn't explain the original call from James Roosevelt's office. Best guess is that Jimmy was out of the city and one of his office workers, in making out Christmas lists, wanted to be sure he was remembering all his nieces and nephews.

Medicine Now Can Help Nearly All Epileptics

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Epilepsy carries a stigma that is difficult to erase. It is associated erroneously with mental illness or deterioration and is considered a blot on the family escutcheon. Victims of this disorder meet with resistance wherever they turn — a truly sad state of affairs in our enlightened times.

The stigma is felt so keenly by some families, they refuse to accept the diagnosis. This is a frustrating experience for sufferers, especially when parents take a child from physician to physician and clinic to clinic, looking for some one who will say epilepsy is not present.

The situation has improved considerably in the last 30 years. A generation ago, the parents of an epileptic boy or girl were so ashamed they preferred to buy medicine from a mail order house rather than consult a physician. Some of these firms had thousands of customers who received bromides or phenobarbital every month for years and years. No attempt was made to confirm the diagnosis or to adjust the dosage to fit the individual needs of the patient.

Nowadays, more specific remedies are available. The seizures are controlled in more than 60 per cent of all cases with the right amount of phenobarbital, Dilantin, Mesantoin, Tridione, Paradine, Milontin, or sodium bromide. In another 20 per cent, more than one drug is needed. The remaining 20 per cent can be helped but not relieved completely. There is no one-shot miracle cure.

Many personality changes that developed in epileptics in the past were considered part of the disease. Some of them were mean, others were overactive or drowsy. We know now that the medications were responsible for these symptoms, rather than the disease.

The 80 per cent who are well controlled on medication can be expected to live a normal life. They can eat and work like anyone else except they should not be employed in a hazardous occupation. They can plan for the future, marry, and have children. (Dr. Van Dellen will send a leaflet on epilepsy by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

American 'Feuhrer' Says Europe's Anti-Semitism Is Well Organized

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—The so-called "feuhrer" of the American Nazi Party confirms the statement of the Israeli newspaper, Davar, that the present rash of European anti-Semitism results from underground Nazi organizations.

George Lincoln Rockwell, who has flaunted the swastika from his home across the Potomac in Arlington, Va., is authority for this statement. Rockwell has sued me for half a million dollars and has distributed leaflets around my home damning me as his enemy.

In the course of defending the suit I took Rockwell's disposition and elicited from him, under oath, some amazingly frank statements. With the rash of swastikas appearing on synagogues in Germany, England, Scotland, and New York, I questioned Rockwell again. Again he appeared to be to be frank.

"Your time will come," he told me. "Nothing will save you from the gas chamber. However, I will tell you the truth. Regarding the present wave of anti-Semitism in Europe, there are 20,000 ex-SS men running around Europe and once you get it in your heart, you don't lose it.

"We have organizations and publications all over Europe. The best is in Sweden where a Nazi magazine 'Nordic Kamp' is published. Letters to the editor are published under 'Heil Hitler'. There are organizations in London, Canada, Australia, Norway, and on the continent. In London the magazine is called 'Combat', and there's another publication in Norway, but it isn't very big. The biggest, toughest, uniformed organization is in Austria. In another month we will publish a slick magazine 'The International Nazi'."

Lone Figure

When I asked the reason for the sudden outbreak of swastikas in Germany, Rockwell replied: "It's pent-up resentment against the fact that they're not permitted to organize. The Nazi party is banned in Germany. These people can't be heard. They can't hire a hall. So they demonstrate as best they can.

"Here in this country I have the right to pass out literature. If anyone tries to stop me the police protect me. I was in the navy once. When people complain to the navy about me, the navy says 'That's OK, he has a right to belong to a political party'. This is impossible in Germany."

Unwittingly Rockwell seemed to be giving the best reasons in the world for the American anti-Nazi system of free speech. Bearing out the effectiveness of that system, Rockwell's neighbors in Virginia gave him such a cold shoulder that he seems not unhappy to move away.

His old headquarters on Williamsburg Boulevard in Arlington, he said, had been taken over by an agent for Russell Maguire, publisher of the American Mercury, now considered an outlet for anti-Semitic material.

Maguire made a fortune purchasing sub-machine guns and selling them to the British government during the battle of Britain. According to Moody's Manual his gross profits totaled $27,000,000 between 1940-44, and his net profits more than $8,000,000. Now his magazine follows the usual anti-Semitic line that Jewish financiers are responsible for the world's ills.

"Maguire hired me to form a Nazi party," Rockwell said. "But I got too hot for him. He now controls the printing presses and the hate literature."

Rockwell is the son of the pre-war radio comedian and rockingchair philosopher, "Old Doc" Rockwell, whose homespun philosophy was familiar to millions—a philosophy far different from that of the young man who has read "Mein Kampf" 12 times, openly displayed the swastika in front of his home, has been pouring out hate literature from the banks of the Potomac, and is titular leader of the "American Nazi Party."

Backstage Steel Moguls

One man who had a lot to do backstage with settling the steel strike is Henry J. Kaiser, the onetime interior decorator who built up the now prosperous Kaiser industries.

It was Henry Kaiser, now 78 years old and semi-retired in Honolulu, who got on the end of trans-Pacific telephone and goaded his son Edgar into making a separate settlement with the steel union. This helped force the hand of other steel companies.

Kaiser even made a special trip to New York to talk turkey to other steel executives. They not only wouldn't listen to his plea for a settlement, but were positively rude to him. After that, he put even greater pressure on his son for a separate settlement.

"We never should have joined the Big Steel," Kaiser told his son over the long-distance telephone. "We don't belong here. We should be negotiating on our own. We have never had a strike before in our lives and this is no time to begin."

Some of the Kaiser executives were pulling in the other direction, especially Jack Ashby, head of Kaiser Steel, who has the same labor views as Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona. But under the whiplash of the man who built up Kaiser industries and controls it, his son made a separate settlement.

Not only was the Kaiser deal more favorable than the final deal signed by Big Steel, but the union has been working like a house-afire to produce steel for Kaiser because he broke the back of the solid anti-union front in the steel industry.

Note—Kaiser gave the union 22½ cents an hour. Big Steel finally had to settle for 39 cents. (Copyright, 1960, By The Bell Syndicate)

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

On the cold nights, when couples come down for a weekend, the charred logs crackle and sap boils on the ends, the music is soft and sentimental, the cubes make musical sounds against the sides of the glasses, and the guests take turns hacking at a wedge of cheese. These are the good nights. The very good nights.

They arrive rubbing fingertips and murmuring "Make mine light," although no one means it and no bartender listens to it. The men slouch moodily over their drinks; the ladies run to the bathroom to put new faces over old ones. The conversation is spuriously bright and forced until after the second round. Then the deep tones of the men begin to harmonize with the soprano giggles of the women.

Sooner or later, the conversation abandons the children and moves backward. Always backward. After the fourth or fifth round, the memory test is on. Someone asks if anyone remembers who was Charlie Chaplin's first leading lady, or a man asserts that Harry Heilmann hit .356 in 1924 and the pleasant debate is on.

We used to play charades. But that died long ago. One night the ladies had to act out a song and one who did it broke the party into hysterics. The song was "I Surrender, Dear." These days, we have a new game called Top Five. All it requires is some pencils and paper. We mark down the five best books we've ever read, the five best plays we've ever seen, and so forth. The votes are tallied, with five given to anything voted for first place, four for second place, and three for third place, and so on.

It is fun. Each tally sheet is signed, so that we know who voted for what. The person whose five selections comes closest to the winning nominations receives a prize — like no olive in the next martini. The poorest selector must pay a penalty — like making the next round of drinks.

The range of endeavor is broad. We may dwell on the five great scientific discoveries of the 20th Century; the five biggest news stories of all time; the five persons you'd most like to be locked in a phone booth with, and so forth. Recently, to give you an idea, the winners in the five best motion pictures category were:

1. The Informer, with Victor McLaglen.
2. Payment Deferred, with Charles Laughton.
3. The Gold Rush, with Charles Chaplin.
4. Sayonara, with Marlon Brando.
5. Some Like It Hot, with Marilyn Monroe.

The votes for the five best books ran this way:

1. The New Testament.
2. Human Destiny, by Lecomte du Noy.
3. The Sun Also Rises, by Ernest Hemingway.
4. O. Henry's Short Stories.
5. The Grapes of Wrath, by John Steinbeck.

We had a big hassle on the five best short stories and/or newspaper columns. In this, as I recall, Sam Boal, editor of the Diners' Club Magazine, wanted to slug me, but was afraid his glass might break. In any case, the final vote put O. Henry's "The Gift of the Magi" in first place. This was the story of the poor couple in New York. At Christmas, he sold his watch to buy his bride a beautiful Spanish comb for her long hair; she sold her tresses to buy him a watch fob.

In second place was a story called "The Doll House" by, I think, Katherine Ann Porter. Among the best columns were one written by Bill Corum about the Kentucky Derby; one by Bob Considine about a growing son; one by Dan Parker on the accented dialogue between Izzy Kaplan and an Italian shoeshine merchant; and a Vanity Fair column by Paul Gallico called Testimony.

If, by chance, you want to break the party up and send everyone home early, ask the men to vote for the five most attractive women, and ask the ladies to vote for the five most magnetic men. This little session can clear the premises in ten minutes. If that doesn't work, ask the guests for the top five candidates for the Presidency of the United States.

I never saw such a violent sorting of hats and coats in my life. And the language between people in love! Tsk. . .

Despite protests, city officials of Andizhan, Central Asia, continue to bar donkeys from the town. In fact, they're downright mullish about it.

Among the things currently perking in Moscow are plans by the government of Brazil to establish a "Hall of Brazil" in the Soviet capital to promote the consumption of more coffee by Russians.

Cranberry-Orange
Chiffon Pie

Makes one 9-inch pie.
Pie Shell:
One-half pkg. (1 cup) pie
crust mix
2 tablespoons cold water

Filling:
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1/4 cup cold water
One 10-oz. pkg. frozen cranberry-orange relish, thawed
1/4 cup water
1/4 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt

3 egg whites
1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
2 tablespoons sugar
Orange segments

Heat oven to hot (425 degrees F.). For the shell, measure pie crust mix into bowl. Sprinkle cold water over mix; stir lightly with fork until just dampened. (If necessary to make dough hold together, add an additional half tablespoon cold water.) Form into ball. Roll on lightly floured board or canvas until 1 1/2 inches larger than inverted 9-inch pie plate. Fit pastry loosely into pie plate. Trim and flute edges. Prick unbaked shell thoroughly with a fork. Bake in preheated oven (425 degrees F.) 10 to 12 minutes or until evenly browned. Cool.

For filling, soften gelatin in cold water. Combine cranberry-orange relish, water, sugar and salt in saucepan. Heat until boiling. Remove from heat. Add softened gelatin; stir until dissolved. Chill until mixture thickens slightly. Beat egg whites with cream of tartar until frothy; add sugar a little at a time, beating well after each addition; beat until stiff and glossy. Fold egg whites into relish-gelatin mixture. Pour into pie shell. Decorate edge of pie with orange segments. Chill until set.

Winter Casserole Wonder

Judge it by eating. Corn au Gratin in Hash Nest is a casserole wonder, brimful of goodness with pluses for attractiveness and on-the-shelf handiness. With a nourishing meat-vegetable combination casserole such as this one, add only a crisp tossed salad and buttered rye toast. The dessert choice is compotes of canned purple plums and pineapple chunks sprinkled with toasted coconut served with a generous wedge of pound cake.

Sherried Turkey Dish

3/4 cup chopped onions
1/2 cup Sherry
1/4 cup water
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 sprig parsley
1 bay leaf
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
2 cups cooked turkey or chicken, chopped
1 (10-ounce) package frozen peas
4 tablespoons butter or margarine
3 tablespoons flour
3/4 cup milk
3/4 cup chopped raw bacon
1/2 cup dry bread crumbs
1/4 teaspoon dill seed
1 egg, beaten
2 slices bread, crusts off
Simmer 3/4 cup onions, Sherry, water, vinegar, parsley, bay leaf, salt and pepper in a small saucepan for about eight minutes; strain. Meanwhile, place turkey in a greased (1 1/2 quart) casserole. Cover with frozen peas. Melt 3 tablespoons butter in a saucepan and blend in flour. Stir in milk and strained Sherry mixture. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens. Pour sauce over peas. Fry bacon. Add remaining 1/4 cup onions and saute them. Add dry bread crumbs, dill seed and beaten egg. Heat until egg is just set. Place this in a layer over peas in casserole. Spread bread slices with remaining butter. Cut each trimmed bread slice into twelve (1-inch) squares* and arrange over bacon mixture in a checker-board pattern. Bake in a moderate oven (350°F.) for thirty minutes.
Yield: 6 servings.
*Cutting the bread squares with scalloped-edged cutter adds an attractive touch to this casserole.

Barton PTA Hears Talk By Fire Marshal
BARTON—E. Wade Thomas, state fire marshal of West Virginia was guest speaker at the regular monthly meeting of Barton Elementary Parent-Teachers Association Tuesday evening at the school.
He was presented by James Lamberson, fire chief of Barton Volunteer Fire Company, and gave a talk and demonstration on causes of fire and its prevention. His demonstration included things that people take for granted and are very careless with about the home, such as overloaded electric wiring, gasoline, cigarettes and matches and many other small items used daily and handled carelessly, killing thousands of people yearly. Mr. Thomas also gave a fire prevention demonstration to the students Tuesday afternoon at the school.
The meeting opened with the flag salute and the PTA prayer. Mrs. Evelyn Brown, president, was in charge. The by-laws which were revised recently were read and approved. Mrs. Louise Footen's second grade room won the attendance award.
It was announced that the children will have a half day of school January 25.

Westernport Mayor, Council Review Community Problems

WESTERNPORT — Members and officers of Potomac Fire Company No. 2 offered several suggestions and complaints to the mayor and council at their regular meeting in the council chamber this week.

Clyde Michael and William Mayles, speaking for the firemen, asked council to attempt to obtain information from the State Roads Commission on plans to improve the state route which passes along Main Street. The state has made a survey for this work, they noted, and many people are concerned about plans for the future.

Mr. Michael said that residents and property owners on the street do not want to make home improvements if the state is planning to buy land or buildings for the improvement. Others say they cannot rent properties on the street because of the uncertainty of the development plans. Thus, the firemen argue, property values are going down steadily and as properties are neglected, fire hazards increase.

The firemen also noted that a survey shows numerous STOP signs in the town are rusted, worn and in need of relettering or replacement. This should be done in the interest of public safety, they said.

Mr. Michael asked council if any action has been taken toward locating a new fire hall or site for storage of a new tank truck which firemen claim is badly needed to carry large quantities to fires where water supply is limited or unavailable.

Mayor Ray L. Wilt told the firemen nothing has been done on this question but a survey and report will be made on possible sites. He also promised action on the STOP signs and Main Street problem.

Michael also suggested that a STOP sign be placed at Clay and Philos Avenue in the Oakview section and said this is one of the most hazardous intersections in the town.

Paul Michael, another fireman asked council to give the fire hall free water. Mayor Wilt refused the request saying a bad precedent would be established, and if the fire company is given free water, churches, schools, lodges and numerous other organizations would then expect the same consideration.

Council was also asked by the firemen to request John J. McMullen, chairman of the Upper Potomac River Commission to employ as many local people as possible at the new sewage treatment plant being built at the lower end of town. Mrs. Katherine Dailey, clerk was instructed to write a letter making the request. It was indicated that upwards of 14 people will be employed at the plant.

Alvin Pence, water commissioner reported that the Bloomington Water Company has ordered the

Neely Opens Campaign For W.Va. Governor

Is Only GOP Member Filed

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The only Republican who has announced his intention to seek the GOP nomination for governor said Thursday night survival of a political party depends on how much work is done at the precinct level.

State Public Institutions Commissioner Harold E. Neely told members of the Kanawha County Young Republican Club that in order for their party to win in 1960, they "must be motivated with the desire to win and be free from the personal antagonisms of the past."

"A party will stand or fall on the work of the precinct level and, therefore, must have the emotional and intellectual content for its many workers," Neely said in his first public address since announcing for governor.

"The Republican party must be designed to meet the problems of today and tomorrow—not yesterday."

Neely said previously he plans to resign as commissioner when he files his candidacy in the near future.

OAKLAND — Carl R. Tuvin, executive secretary of the Maryland Democratic State Central Committee, will speak at a dinner meeting of the Federated Democratic Women's Clubs of Garrett County Monday, January 18, at 6 p. m. in St. Matthew's Episcopal Church parish hall.

Two VHS Students Attain High Educational Honors

LONA CONING—Roberta Love and Arlene Staup, Valley High School students, are recipients of certificates of Educational Development, awarded to them in recognition of outstanding performance on the 1959 National Educational Developmental Tests.

Lyle M. Spencer, president, Science Research Associates, Inc., stated that this award reflects credit both to the students and to Valley Senior High School. These tests provide scores in five areas: English Usage, Mathematics Usage, Social Studies Reading, Natural Sciences Reading, and Word Usage. These tests emphasize broad educational skills and understandings rather than sheer factual knowledge.

Principal Paul B. Beable's signature is on the two honor certificates which he presented to Miss Love and Miss Staup.

Wayne Boor, his grid aide, and head basketball coach, also moved to Wheaton. New coaches appointed at Fort Hill were Charles Lattimer, Paul Flick and James Eckard.

John R. Shelton gave up the coaching reins at Keyser to become assistant principal and he was supplanted in basketball by "Eck" Miers, Keyser alumnus, who had been coaching at Front Royal, Va.

In football, St. Patrick's CYO champions not only swept through four straight games but also scored four shutouts, a feat achieved for the first time in the league's 14-year history.

The Old Germans basketball team, sparked by Don Moran, bagged titles in the City League (29-0), the YMCA Senior Tournament and also in tournaments at Windber and Johnstown, Pa., under other names.

Maphis Breaks Records

Romney's Bill Maphis, an All-Stater, smashed area and P.V.C. records by scoring 652 and 509 points, respectively, for averages of 31.0 and 29.9. Jim Hanel of Beall High hung up a new foul shooting record in the W. M. I. League and Charles Robinson, Fort Hill, established a new C. V. A. L. scoring mark.

Cross County, introduced in the county schools, proved a success with Fort Hill copping the first meet over the Fort Cumberland Golf course. Merwin Hast paced the field of 38 hill and dalers.

Sandra Roeder, 15, became the youngest player to win the Allegany County tennis championship.

The Potomac Valley Conference expanded to 19 schools with the admission of Beall and Bayard.

Mt. Savage High Best

Coach Joe Carter's Mt. Savage High tusslers (12-2) won the County High School Baseball League title while Fort Hill bagged city honors (4-0) in baseball and finished in a triple tie with Allegany and LaSalle in basketball.

Barreille's Old Exports captured the pennant in the Pen-Mar Baseball League but the Hyndman Merchants annexed the playoff crown. Moorefield was the pennant winner in the Mountain State League and Springfield's Rockets won the championship in the Hampshire County League.

Howard Northcraft's Phillies dominated the Dapper Dan Little League. Barton grabbed the title for an all-time record when Valley copped the title for the 7th year in a row. He made it a "triple" for 1959 when he led the Valley's floormen to the W.M.I. League and Maryland Class "B" championships.

Fort Hill Dethroned

Ed Schwarz, serving his second year as grid mentor at Allegany, led the Campers to the city crown on Turkey Day when they defeated the Sentinels (20-0) for the first time since 1945. It was Fort Hill's first loss in 29 games since late in the 1956 season. The Sentinels' city record string included 26 wins and two ties. By winning this one Allegany tied Westminter's Owls for the C.V.A.L. championship, each team finishing with 5-1 records.

Keyser High School dominated the P.V.C. during the year. John R. Shelton's track and basketball teams won titles as did the baseball team coached by Frederick "Tack" Clark. The latter's football team with a 7-0 record shared the championship with West Virginia School for the Deaf (4-0) for the second straight year and closed the sixth straight season in the conference with a 32-game winning streak.

Panthers Unbeaten

The only loss suffered by Keyser's gridders came in the final game at the hands of Charles Town's Panthers (19-13), the only unbeaten and untied team in the area for 1959.

Fort Hill again was supreme in track and field. The Sentinels won the city meet, the county senior high meet for the 13th consecutive year, copped their own invitational by edging Montgomery

Barbara Digs Wins

At the Cumberland County Club, Miss Barbara Digs, Washington, D.C., won the year's biggest event, the Ninth Invitational, and gained a leg on the Old Export Bowl.

Three holes-in-one were recorded over the CCC course and two were scored at Maplehurst Country Club, Frostburg.

The CCC men's team wound up its 13th straight season without a loss at home, extending its win streak to 55 matches since 1946.

Allegany County's "Coaches Of The Year" were John C. Meyers, D. W. A. L. High School, and Ed Schwarz, of Allegany High School. Meyers turned out his 9th W.M.I. Soccer League winner for an all-time record when Valley copped the title for the 7th year in a row. He made it a "triple" for 1959 when he led the Valley's floormen to the W.M.I. League and Maryland Class "B" championships.

Fort Hill At Valley, Allegany At Mt. Savage Tonight

LaSalle High To Seek 10th Straight Win

Invades Paw Paw, Bruce Hosts Beall, Six Games In PVC

Valley High School's Black Knights open defense of the W.M.I. League championship they won in 1959 when they host Fort Hill's Sentinels tonight as the county schoolboy basketball circuit launches its 40th campaign.

In other lid-lifters in the six school loop, Allegany's Campers play at Mt. Savage and Beall opposes the Bruce High School Bulldogs in Westport.

Fort Hill is off to a rocky start this season, having lost four consecutive games to varsity quint, all in the C.V.A.L. The only win was registered at the expense of the Alumni in the Sentinels' last outing. Valley does not appear as formidable as it was last season when it captured 24 out of 26 games, bagged W.M.I. League title with a 9-1 record and went on to win the Maryland Class "B" title at College Park. Valley's current record is four wins and three losses.

Never Won At 'Coney

Valley holds the distinction of never having lost on its home court to Fort Hill since coming into the basketball league in 1954. The schools have met 12 times in the past six years and the Black Knights lead in the series, 10 wins to two. Valley has won six in a row at home and has copped four of the six games played on the Fort Hill court. Last season Valley won here, 63-61, in two overtime periods, and at home, 65-50.

Allegany High, winner of 22 championships, has been out of the title picture for two years, and that has been a limit since back in 1928. The Campers never have lost out more than two years in a row over the past 32 years. Mt. Savage and Allegany split even last season with the Indians copping the game here while the Campers squared accounts by scalping the tribe in its own wigwam.

Bruce High School has looked good in early season games and could make it interesting during the league season.

LaSalle Seeks Tenth

Undeafed LaSalle High School goes after its tenth victory season tonight when it battles the Paw Paw High Pirates tonight at Paw Paw. Coach Glenn Smith's team has won five out of six

Oakland Wants Berth

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI) — Lamar Hunt, founder of the new American Football League, said Thursday that Oakland, Calif., still stands a chance of getting the eighth and final franchise of the league.

But, he added, his personal choice for the franchise is Miami, Fla., where backers of a proposed pro football team are better organized than in Oakland.

California Quits NBA

Failed To Prevent Hoodlum Activity

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — California Thursday pulled out of the National Boxing Assn. with charges the NBA has been lax in combatting hoodlum influence in boxing.

"California has repeatedly urged the NBA to develop an effective national regulatory program," the State Athletic Commission said in a letter of resignation to the association.

"Hoodlum influence" in boxing, the Commission said, has been proven by criminal conviction and investigation reports, and existing laws and regulations have not prevented hoodlum activity.

South is a slight favorite to edge the North in Saturday's televised Senior Bowl game.

The odds-makers Thursday quoted the Southerners as a 3½-point favorite, possibly in the belief that Webb Ewbank is making a habit of beating Jim Lee Howell.

Also, the railbirds noted that Ewbank has loaded his defenses, a formula he found highly successful in his Baltimore Colts' 31-16 victory over Howell's New York Giants for their second straight title playoff victory over the Giants in the National Football League.

The squads appeared a standoff in workouts. The Northerners appeared not quite as big as the Southerners but possibly a shade the faster.

County Library Committee Resumes Drive

$48,000 Sought From Commissioners

The Allegany County Library Committee was reactivated last night at the Cumberland Free Public Library and the group immediately voted unanimously to urge the County Board of Commissioners to create a county library and provide the equivalent of three cents on the county tax rate annually for the county-wide institution.

Dr. Adam Baer of Frostburg, who had served previously as chairman of the committee, was reappointed to that position last night. Mrs. Charles L. Kopp of this city was named vice chairman and Mrs. William A. Cook of Cash Valley Road was appointed secretary.

Mrs. Cook, a professional librarian who was instrumental in county library establishments in three different Ohio counties, presented some preliminary figures based on a proposed budget of about $62,000 annually for the operation of the county-wide library.

This total was used on the basis that three cents on the county tax rate or its equivalent would provide about $48,000 and the county also is assured of at least $14,329 in state aid on the basis of 16 cents per capita from the most recent census.

Would End City Support

This group agreed that it would be unfair to expect the City of Cumberland to continue its $27,000 appropriation to the Cumberland Free Public Library, which would be absorbed as the chief branch of the county-wide library. The reason is that city taxpayers also pay a large share of the county taxes and it would be unfair to expect them to pay double taxation for library support.

Mrs. Cook will prepare a detailed budget for the proposed county library. It would utilize the existing libraries at Cumberland, LaVale, Frostburg and Westernport and link them and the rest of the county with a bookmobile. County residents would be able to borrow from any of the branches.

If the county library is established before June 30, the county can receive a $20,000 federal appropriation for the 1960-61 fiscal year but this money must be spent outside the City of Cumberland. About $8,000 of that amount would go for a bookmobile, about $3,500 for library equipment and at least $4,500 for new books.

Another meeting of the county library committee will be held about February 1, by which time a detailed budget will be available through the combined efforts of Mrs. Cook, Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian of the Cumberland Free Public Library, and Miss Helen M. Clark of Baltimore, state library service chairman.

Will Start Campaign

In an effort to stimulate public support for the county library throughout the county, the committee voted to provide factual information on the need for all homemakers' groups, PTAs, service and civic clubs and municipal officials, and urge them to contact the county commissioners personally by letter to get support for the proposal.

Mrs. Cook, who is compiling much of the information for the proposed library budget, began her career as a librarian at Middletown, Ohio, where she was responsible for the establishment of bookmobile service for half of Butler County.

She attended the Pratt School of Library Science in Brooklyn, N. Y., and later served as head librarian at Greenville, Ohio, and Mt. Vernon, Ohio. In both places she established county-wide book service.

Attending last night's meeting were representatives from Cumberland, LaVale, Frostburg and Westernport, all of which now have libraries.

The next meeting will be held when Miss Clark will be in Cumberland and can meet with the county group.

CIDC Board Will Meet January 12

The board of directors of the Cumberland Industrial Development Company will meet Tuesday, January 12, at 3:30 p. m. in the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce offices.

Garland L. Johnston, president, will preside at the session.

Care To Help?

Three-year-old Rusty Haines, tiny polio victim, whose selection as official 1960 March Of Dimes Baby for Allegany County was announced last night by Hugh A. McMullen, county MOD chairman, is seeking help for all area youngsters crippled by the dread disease. With all expenses covered by the local chapter of the National Foundation, Rusty's paralyzed left leg has recovered completely, but he still wears a brace on his damaged left arm. There were four new polio cases in the county during the past year, while 40 previous victims continued their Foundation treatments during the same period. Rusty is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell E. Haines, Potomac Park.

Potomac Park Boy Named March Of Dimes Baby

Rusty Haines was two at the time. Ordinarily he was as playful as a whole litter of puppies. But right now he wasn't up to par.

Still, his mother and father, Sue and Russell Haines of Potomac Park, thought that his virus infection was much improved. They might even let him come downstairs and watch TV. After all, he had been in bed for nearly a week. For a little boy, that's a long time.

It wasn't Rusty's virus that bothered Sue and Russell so much. It was the fact that every time they arranged to take Rusty for his polio shots, he seemed to develop a cold or an allergy. His inoculations had been delayed time after time. They were becoming more and more concerned about it.

The board granted permission for the Kel-Co Federal Credit Union, 152 North Mechanic Street, to erect an office building at the corner of Paca and Lee streets. Plans call for the structure to be 30 by 45 feet and of brick veneer construction, with a concrete foundation and a built-up roof.

The permit was approved by William B. Orndorff and H. Clifford Spiker, members, after James C. Gardner, chairman, disqualified himself on grounds he is a member of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company staff.

The credit union serves both hourly-paid and staff members of the local tire plant. For a number of years, it has occupied quarters on the first floor of the Rubber Workers Union hall here.

The permit was granted on grounds that the opposite corner was established as a business location and that there are other businesses in the locality.

The board granted permission for two part-time home occupations with the usual stipulation that they be marked only by inconspicuous identifying signs such as are used by professional people.

Evelyn E. Kelley, 52 South Street, was granted permission to locate a beauty parlor in her home, and Thomas E. Smith, 206 South Street, to use the basement of his home as a repair shop.

New Income Tax Ruling Is Outlined

New rules for federal income tax withholding by employers on daily transportation and per diem allowances paid employees working on construction and other projects in remote areas went into effect the first day of this month.

A spokesman for the Internal Revenue Service pointed out that the new withholding rules will not cover the question whether actual related expenses of an employee are deductible on the employee's tax return. Employee deductions in such cases, he said, will be covered in another ruling to be announced later.

The new withholding tax ruling requires that as of January 1 this year, federal income tax be withheld on the allowances whenever:

(1) The employee has actually worked for a substantially continuous period of one year in any particular project area; or

(2) At the time of hiring, it is expected that the employee may be employed in a particular project area for more than one year; or

(3) It becomes apparent at any time that the employee's services in a particular project area may reasonably be expected to continue for more than one year.

Under the previous rules, employers frequently were uncertain whether withholding was required on such payments in particular cases.

Forestry Camp Escapees Face Hearing Today

Arrested In Pa. After Wild Chase

Two 16-year-old escapees from the New Germany Forestry Camp for Boys who eluded police of two states in a wild chase over Maryland and Pennsylvania highways were recaptured early yesterday morning in a bullet-ridden pickup truck in Bedford County, Pa., and will be given a hearing today in Oakland on a motor vehicle charge.

Robert McFadden of 349 Dorn Avenue, city, and Donald Hackey of Frederick, who escaped from a work detail Wednesday morning, will be tried for unauthorized use of a motor vehicle, police said.

They were recaptured early yesterday by Pennsylvania authorities who notified Maryland State Police at 1:23 a. m. the two youths had been arrested and were being lodged in Somerset County jail.

Later in the day, Tfc. Donald R. Wade of the Maryland State Police went to Pennsylvania and brought the two youths to the LaVale barracks.

Taken To Frostburg

About 4:30 p. m. yesterday they were taken to the Frostburg jail by Trooper Wade, who said they will be taken to Oakland today for the hearing.

While attempting to elude capture the young pair forced one Pennsylvania trooper's car off the highway. Their flight was halted only after several warning shots were fired by another trooper into the cab of the stolen vehicle they were operating.

A pickup was posted shortly after the boys escaped at 11:30 a. m. Wednesday but they could not be located. However, at 10:45 p. m. Wednesday, state police at LaVale received a call from Henry J. Hummel of Star Route, Frostburg, who said he had observed two boys driving away from the Hummel home in his pickup truck.

Hummel said he and his wife were awakened by a noise in their yard. He went to a window and told his wife, "Someone is stealing my truck." He called police and hurriedly dressed. Hummel gave chase in his automobile and later informed police that he had fired five shots from a .22 calibre pistol in an attempt to stop the stolen vehicle. It was reported also that the youths returned the gunfire by using a 410 gauge shotgun Hummel had left in the cab of the truck.

Evaded Pursuit

Hummel followed the fleeing youths to Grantsville, where he lost them, and from where Maryland State Trooper R. J. Graham took up pursuit. Trooper Graham also lost the two boys in the Springs, Pa. area where they turned off onto mountain roads. Pennsylvania State Troopers Norman L. Harvey and Arthur K. Olesky were en route to the region and gave chase when the boys drove onto Pennsylvania State Route 53.

In an attempt to halt the flight of the youths, Trooper Harvey drove alongside the stolen truck to force them off the highway. Instead, young McFadden swerved the truck toward the state trooper's car and forced him into a ditch.

It was at this point that Trooper Olesky began firing at the young escapees and succeeded in forcing them to stop their flight near Ursina, Pa.

"It's a wonder no one was hurt," Trooper Olesky said. "That truck looked like a sieve with all those bullet holes."

Pennsylvania authorities said Trooper Harvey escaped injury when he was forced off the highway, but that his car was damaged to the extent of several hundred dollars.

Display Continued

The Christmas display at the home of Grayson Alkire, 904 Lafayette Avenue, will be kept up another week at the request of a number of people who did not get to see it during the holidays, it was announced last night.

Valley To Be Represented In Jaycee Speech Contest

Valley High School's entry in the finals of the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce speech contest, "My True Security," on Saturday, January 16, will be Jeanne Cutter, a senior, who plans to become a nurse upon graduation.

The contest will be held at 10 a. m. in the auditorium of Frostburg State Teachers College with members of the faculty acting as judges.

Miss Cutter, who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Cutter of Midland, was elected vice president of the junior class, was in charge of the junior talent show and was co-chairman of the prom committee.

In the early part of 1959 she was inducted into the National Honor Society and at the following election was named vice president. At the close of her junior year she was named editor of the school's yearbook, "The Lance."

She was named secretary of the Senior Tri-Hi-Y at the school. Miss Cutter is a member of Grace Methodist Church and is active in the Methodist Youth Fellowship.

Blue Cross Survey:

Most Subscribers Pleased, But Think Abuses Exist

BALTIMORE (AP)—More than 98 per cent of 369 Blue Cross subscribers polled said they were satisfied with the benefits and would recommend the plan to others.

However, 83 per cent said they believed some benefits were being used unnecessarily.

Results of the random survey were released Thursday by Maryland Hospital Service, which operates Blue Cross and its companion medical plan, Blue Shield.

Answers came from the Subscriber Advisory Committee made up of 542 members, of whom 369 replied. The hospital service originated the committee last summer while the State Insurance Commission was debating its second requested rate increase in a year.

A 20 per cent hike was okayed last fall, just a year after a 14 per cent stepup was approved.

There was widespread criticism of soaring costs of the plan. A Legislative Council Committee investigated and came up with several proposals aimed at improving the program.

In the subscriber survey, 65 per cent indicated they regarded last year's increase as justified.

Of 255 who claimed benefits, 99 per cent said they were satisfied. Of the 83 per cent who said they believed abuses existed, 48 per cent thought them to be widespread.

Some placed blame on doctors who admit patients to hospitals without cause; hospitals that overcharged were another target, as well as patients who seek hospital care when it isn't needed.

Sixty subscribers endorsed a major suggestion of the legislators—both Blue Cross and Blue Shield should do more to bring about lower hospital costs.

One of the questions was to describe how you would tell a foreigner who asked about the plan.

"Very definitely," was one woman's answer. She said she had used Blue Cross once, when she had a "broken arm that was fractured."

Many of those questioned expected rates to go up again and one man wrote: "Hospitals will ride a gift horse to death."

Mathias Pledges Strong Fight In 6th Dist. Race

Republican Rally Is Well Attended

Del. Charles McC. Mathias Jr., (R-Frederick County) opened his campaign for the Republican nomination to Congress from Maryland's Sixth District at a Republican rally held last night in Frostburg.

Speaking before some 200 Republican leaders and workers meeting in the National Guard Armory there, Del. Mathias said he was happy to open his campaign in the heartland of Republican strength in Maryland.

There are three significant dates which must be kept in mind in planning for this year's election, he said.

The election year 1958, he said, should be considered by Republicans as an opportunity to examine the record and find out what was done wrong "and to do it right in 1960."

President Eisenhower, he said, has led the way and has brought the ideals and principles of the Republican Party to the notice of the whole world.

Predicts Victory

The next significant date, he said, is 1960, when "we are faced with problems that are a challenge to the American people." These problems, he added, must be met by sound American principles.

Calling for all-out support of Allegany County Republicans, he said the "Republican voice of Western Maryland must be represented in the House of Representatives."

Del. Mathias pledged complete devotion to the job of winning the Congressional seat back and to give Western Maryland the best representation of which he is capable.

The Sixth District candidate said the third date to be stressed is 1860, the year of the "first Republican victory" when Lincoln was elected President.

"One hundred years later," he said, "we are going to do it again."

"Take Gloves Off"

Allegany County GOP leaders stressed the need for hard work and enthusiasm in the coming campaign.

James S. Getty, state's attorney, told the GOP workers that a day-by-day, hour-by-hour effort must be made to get people on the voting books.

He appealed to all party workers to get young voters registered Republican and to support fund raising activities.

The Republican Party said, State Senator Charles M. See, must "take the gloves" off and get to work.

He said the party has able candidates in Nixon for President and Del. Mathias, whom he characterized as able and well qualified.

The candidate, he said, will do a splendid job if he gets the support he deserves.

An all-out effort must be made in 1960, said A. Charles Stewart register of wills.

Check Voting Rolls

Mr. Stewart cited voting trends in Allegany County during the past two decades and said Republican leaders will have to get out and work.

Mrs. Arthur A. Verner described the activities of the Women's Republican Club of Cumberland, saying members are studying lists of voters who have been stricken from the registration rolls for failure to vote, and are contacting all of them on a volunteer basis.

J. Glenn Beall Jr., chairman of the Republican Committee of Allegany County, served as master of ceremonies at the rally, which drew an enthusiastic crowd of GOP workers from most sections of the county.

He reported that the party will open its headquarters at 1 North Liberty Street next week and that efforts are continuing to locate a top speaker for the Lincoln Day dinner planned next month.

Mr. Beall thanked volunteers from the Lonaconing Republican Club who laid the new floor in the party headquarters here recently.
